

PROPHECY Today UK

Friday 6th November 2015

Dear Reader,

I'm doing something that I don't like doing! And I'm not very good at it. I'm writing about that odious subject of money! When we began planning the new online Prophecy Today a year ago with a start-up grant from Issachar Ministries, we were determined not to charge for it because we believed we are handling the word of God which we want to get out far and wide. We wanted to make it free for anyone to read.

Our brilliant young Managing Editor, Frances Rabbitts, had just left university with a doctorate. She could have obtained a considerable salary in a commercial job but she chose to join the Prophecy Today team and gave six months' work without any salary (through the generosity of her parents, with whom she has been living), enabling us to do all the preparations ready for our launch last April. Since then she has been on a small salary for just three days a week although giving much more time and expertise than this, and of course we've had to pay for the website design, engage technical staff, pay for photographs and numerous other expenses. But none of our writers take fees so we have stayed solvent.

There is a lot more we would like to do in developing Prophecy Today to make the site more attractive, useful and able to reach a wider public, but our income at the moment is quite tiny. This is why we are appealing for your help. We do hope you have been blessed by what you read on this site and that you will feel it worthwhile to share in maintaining its mission to the public. If you could give a one-off gift or even a small amount on a regular basis which some are already doing, it would really bless us and enable us to plan for future expansion.

You can give through PayPal online (further details are on the Support page of the Prophecy Today website), or if you are a taxpayer and you would like us to recover the tax on your gift you can go through our parent organisation, Issachar Ministries. Just join their mailing list and make your gift out to Issachar Ministries, marked on the back for the support of Prophecy Today.

Thank you and bless you!

The Revd Dr Clifford Hill

Editor-In-Chief

Prophecy Today UK